KLAMATH FALLS, OREGON, SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 24, 1921

PRICE FIVE CENTS

TWO HELD UP, MAN ARRESTED ON SUSPICION

Alonzo Smith was taken into custody last night about midnight by Patrolman George McDonald on an alleged charge of being the person who held up both Paul Robertson, son of W. H. Robertson, and L. C. Shirley, a barber, yesterday evening. Paul Robertson, a driver for the Klamath Superior laundry, was delivering bundles on South Sixth street last night about 7 o'clock, and as he neared Walnut street a man standing near the walk called upon him to halt. Robertson, instead of halting, put on power in the car and shot forward. The car at the time was in low gear, and it was this factor which Robertson relied upon to get him clear of the hold-up artist. The matter was reported at the police station, and a dragnet at once put out by the police.

About 11 o'clock, when L. C. Shirley, a barber living at 1520 Johnson street, was going home from work, just before he crossed the bridge over the canal near the Modoc baseball park, he observed a man about ten feet away on the driveway of the bridge. A command to "stop" was not strong enough to halt Shirley, and more so when the stick-up artist reached for his hip pocket. A mad race across the bridge took place between Shirley and the hold-up man, Shirley claiming that he left the bridge twenty feet ahead. Repeated cries to halt only served to increase Shirley's speed. This hold-up was reported, and quick work by Patrolman McDonald resulted in the capture of Smith near the scene of the robbery. A Smith & Wesson revolver, also a Luger revolver were found on Smith at the police station.

At the police headquarters this morning, Shirley identified Smith as the man who tried to hold him up on the bridge last night. Smith refuses to talk, and asserts he is not the man wanted.

Hundred Odd Fellows Honor State Head

Over 100 guests were present last night at the Odd Fellows hall held for the Grandmaster of the state, M. R. Biggs, of Prineville. A large delegation of Odd Fellows were present from Merrill and Bonanza, and when the banquet was called the tables were taxed to care for the crowd. A fine meal was served and during the evening, in a well prepared speech Grand Master Biggs related the accomplishments of the order in the state, and expressed his gratitude for the splendid reception given him here by the lodge.

Victim of Woman's Rage Is Dying

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—Mildred F. Hanan, shot early yesterday by Mrs. Grace Lawes, her former chum, is reported by surgeons to be sinking rapidly. Peritonitis has set in. The jealousy theory is reputedly by relatives and friends of Mrs. Lawes, who expressed the belief she was temporarily deranged by drugs and liquor.

R. R. Publicity Man Will Boost Klamath

W. T. Lee has received a letter from Robert G. Weyh, lecturer for the Union Pacific railway system, who was Mr. Lee's guest while here during the summer on a visit to Crater Lake and other scenic places. Mr. Weyh was greatly impressed with Klamath's scenic grandeur. He secured many pictures and is now in New York preparing a series of lectures with which he expects to educate eastern people in regard to the wonderful scenery that a western trip affords. The Crater Lake park can show them.

Severe Storm Is Headed for Oregon Says Weather Man

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 24.—A severe storm is moving rapidly south-east from the north Pacific ocean toward Oregon, the weather bureau announced today. Strong southeasterly gales, shifting to a southwesterly direction are predicted for tonight and probably Sunday.

The Portland bureau's prediction for tonight is rain for the western part of the state and fair and warmer for the eastern portion. For Sunday there is a likelihood of rain, with fresh to strong southerly gales.

SEEKS SUPPORT FOR RODEO ASS'N

The campaign for subscriptions to the $50,000 fund for establishing a Klamath Rodeo association is under way, but owing to a lack of discussion of the project it so far has not developed a large amount of enthusiasm.

The promoters of the plan are seeking in the preliminary stages to ascertain the sentiment of the community. They assert that by securing permanent grounds and equipment a place for an annual rodeo that will attract thousands of visitors to Klamath Falls will be provided; that a market place for livestock shows and sales will be established that will aid the livestock industry; that a badly needed automobile camp ground will be secured and that facilities for staging races, baseball games and other sports will be obtained.

"To be successful and permanent," says W. T. Lee, secretary of the temporary organization, in a circular letter to persons whose support is sought, "this institution must be self-supporting. To be self-supporting it must take up diversified activities, and must receive the hearty and unqualified support of the community and the town. The program mapped out by the association should provide those interests and activities."

The $50,000 capitalization is divided into 5,000 shares, par value $10 each. Those who would receive direct benefit from the trade of tourists or from the visitors to the annual rodeo, are expected to be the heaviest subscribers, but the plan is one to appeal for financial and moral support to every resident of the county, assert its promoters.

Clyde Bradley, president of the county fair association, said today that the fair board was supporting the project, and would do all in its power to bring the matter to the attention of the public.

"If it is going to result in the benefit that is claimed for it," said Mr. Bradley, "we want it. If there is anything wrong with the program we want to know it, and we can plan a campaign of education, on which the people can decide whether or not they want to endorse the project."

With the $50,000, or such an amount as can be guaranteed, be it more or less, it is planned to purchase 40 acres of well located land. The ground would be developed with the following ends in view:

A permanent county fair ground, with a quarter mile track, grandstand, paddock, etc.

Stock show and sales pavilion. County picnic ground, with running water and sanitary conveniences, shade trees and camping facilities.

Standard baseball diamond and grandstand.

An auto camp ground providing all the facilities for the tourists that other progressive communities afford.

TRIAL POSTPONED

A continuance in the civil action for recovery of $81, alleged to be due J. W. Landruth from William Griffith, set for trial in Judge Gahagen's court this afternoon was by mutual agreement of both parties to the suit, set over until Friday, September 29 at 10 o'clock.

POOR MARKETS CUTS SIZE OF EASTERN PARTY

PORTLAND, Sept. 24.—Eight homeseekers from Nebraska and Kansas arrived Thursday in Ontario, where they were met by a delegation from the Oregon State Chamber of Commerce and escorted on an auto trip through the farming districts of the state.

The party will arrive in Portland next Tuesday, and Tuesday evening will be the guests at a dinner of the state chamber.

The party was organized by J. R. Heuring, agent of the state chamber, who has been in the Middle West during the last summer. It was expected the party would be considerably larger, but owing to inability of farmers to market their products, many who planned participating in the trip to Oregon cancelled their reservations.

In a letter received by the state chamber, Heuring says that during the summer he has personally interviewed 3000 Middle Western farmers and has distributed 25,000 pieces of literature descriptive of Oregon.

Many farmers have been hard hit during the last two years, according to Heuring, and with crop failures this year and their inability to sell their corn of last year, they are financially unable to come to Oregon, although many of them plan migrating to this state within the next year or two.

The homeseekers will probably not visit Klamath on this trip, said Secretary Stanley this morning. The party is small, and there is so much territory to see in Oregon that it was decided, he said, at a recent meeting at Medford, that Southern Oregon would not ask them to come here, but would be willing that they confine their investigations to the northern part of the state. Later on there will be another homeseeking tour which will visit Southern Oregon. George Quayle, secretary of the State Chamber of Commerce, was present at the Medford meeting, and favored this plan, said Mr. Stanley.

Many Ex-Service Men Are Recording Discharge Papers

County Clerk DeLap has been busy during the past week filling soldier's and sailor's honorable discharge papers, preparatory to the recording of the discharge with the loan board of the state soldier bonus department. Applications for loans are being made by the Oregon ex-service men and the local banks have been assisting the applicants fill out their blanks.

Many ex-service men have their honorable discharge papers recorded so that in case of loss of the original by fire or otherwise, the county records will show all necessary data should he in future years desire to have the record reproduced in home-steading, loan application or for other personal reasons. The recording fee is small and the record is permanent.

Stunts for Crowd at Game Tomorrow

The city baseball league tomorrow plan to put on a stunt program at the baseball game between the Ewanna and Jewel teams consisting of ball throwing, batting balls, a footrace between the Jewel and Ewanna teams for 100 yards, tug-of-war, ball thrown highest in air and a number of other incidental tests whereby ball players are gauged and should the corner player of the Klamath Falls band appear this afternoon, the band will be on hand to serenade the game attendants.

On Sunday, October 2, the band will give a concert in the afternoon at the ball grounds and the music loving public who are fond of martial band music will be given a treat. The public will know tomorrow if the cornet player arrives in time as a street concert will take place, and again at the ball grounds.

PUBLIC MARKET OPENS EARLY TO RUSHING TRADE

The Grand Central Public Market presented the usual scene of whirlwind buying and selling this morning, and the forenoon's business gave promise that last Saturday's record—when 3,500 persons attended the market and spent $1,800—would be broken.

Market Master Cramblitt said he estimated there were 30 stalls in operation today, against 25 last Saturday.

Twelve-pound cabbages from Klamath county soil were a feature of the vegetable display. Mammoth yellow squashes closely rivalled the cabbages as an indication of Klamath fertility.

Fine, crisp celery from local gardens was another product that took well with the buyers. Fruit was offered in wide variety.

E. N. Woodhouse, Merrill apiarist, reported a heavy trade in honey. Purchasers of sample cans last Saturday were back this morning for larger lots. Mr. Woodhouse stated that he was having no trouble in marketing his product, and that the home market was more convenient and more profitable than shipping.

Working people took advantage of the 7 o'clock opening, and did brisk buying before going to work. Mr. Cramblitt said $150 was left at the market by men and women on the way to work, who would take their purchases home with them this evening.

Last Saturday four squashes and a bag of potatoes were left over at the end of the day's business, although an enormous supply of produce was on hand in the morning. Mr. Cramblitt mentioned this to the reporter, who asked if he hoped to dispose of all the stuff in the market today, and said he had no doubt the stalls would be bare by night.

Apparently the market is established. Buyers seem well satisfied with prices and highly appreciate the opportunity to get fresh, home-grown vegetables and fruit and direct-from-the-farm eggs, chickens and other products, and the sellers are glad of a chance to transform produce that in some instances would be fed to stock, or perhaps totally wasted, into ready spending money.

Salvation Army to Open Headquarters

The building at 123 South Fourth street is being remodeled this week to serve as Klamath county headquarters of the branch of the Salvation Army during the coming winter. The Oregon staff of the army decided to establish a branch here two months ago. Occupancy will be given during the forepart of the coming week. Painters are freshening up the interior today.

The opening meeting will be held tonight at 6 o'clock and the officers extend a special invitation to the public to attend. Captain Briggs, in charge of the Salvation Army post at Medford, will assist at this meeting. There will also be services on Sunday as follows: holiness meeting at 11 a. m.; Sunday school at 2:30 p. m.; and "salvation" meeting at 8 p. m.

Husband Denies Cruelty Charges

The case of Mary Jane Eggman against Wilbur Eggman was started yesterday afternoon before Judge D. V. Kuykendall in circuit court. The plaintiff is suing for divorce on the grounds of cruelty. Charges were alleged that the defendant had beat and abused her at various times.

Testimony was taken again this morning, the defendant being called to the stand. Eggman flatly denied abusing the plaintiff at any time and alleged that his mother-in-law was at the bottom of his domestic troubles. Both parties in the suit are Klamath Indians residing near Chilquien.

British Gov't Has Nothing More to Offer—Churchill

LONDON, Sept. 24.—British recognition of Irish claims of independence as a condition to a conference were never asked by Sinn Fein, declared Arthur Griffith, a member of the delegation chosen at Dublin to confer with Lloyd George, in an interview with the Daily Mail's correspondent at Dublin.

"The only thing that mattered would be the final agreement," he said.

DUNDEE, Scotland, Sept. 24.—Winston Spencer Churchill, minister that if this offer is rejected, the governor for the colonies, speaking here, said the British government had gone to the utmost limit possible in its offer to the Sinn Fein and that if this offer is rejected the government had nothing else to give.

WARDEN SAYS HE MEANS BUSINESS

Warning has been issued by Game Warden Stout about shooting both before sunrise and after sunset—and the game warden has not made this warning as a matter to be considered lightly by the sportsman. Every word is meant and there will be no sparing of persons in the enforcement.

Instructions were sent broadcast to the deputies that they are to take up any one who shoots migratory birds before or after the hours appointed by law. To some of the hunters this law appears to be one which works a hardship as some migratory birds often delay picking their feeding and roosting places just before dusk, such as the green wing teal, blue bill, black jack and several other varieties of small duck. It has been the experience of any hunter who has ever sat in a blind that after sunset, the teal will perform this above given practice and the hunter is, under this law, prohibited from shooting one of the wily type of fowl which tests the skill and eye the most.

On the other hand, the warden explains, the larger type of ducks such as the mallard, spoonbill, redhead, sprig, canvas back, and a score of other varieties, about one hour before dark indulge in a flight in which they observe and pick out the very spot they intend to settle in. During this survey, they will afford a shot and after a scare still come back after dusk and alight, providing no shot is fired at them. But let a flash of the hunter's gun be seen and at once the fowl takes to the sky, reaches his altitude and flies for two or three hours until a likely spot 200 miles away looms up down below. Then he settles downward and perhaps this location is in another state. There is no return to the place, on the southern migratory flight, where the first shot was fired at him. Another disturbance of his "night cap" only sends him further southward.

In regard to the settlement of the dispute which is now under way with the California authorities regarding the Oregon hunters bringing back their kills of large and small game, should the southern state authorities refuse to effect a compromise there can be no hunting in California of either ducks and geese with the expectation to cross the state line with the bag. Enforcement of the hours governing shooting will keep many game fowls in this state and give the sportsmen here a better opportunity to get good bags and at the same time be kept out of trouble with California game wardens.

The following table will assist the hunter to know the rise and setting of the sun. Cut out the slip and carry it with you, says Game Warden Stout:

Following is the sunrise and sunset table for the coming week:
	Sunrise	Sunset
Sept. 25	5:52	5:53
Sept. 26	5:53	5:51
Sept. 27	5:55	5:49
Sept. 28	5:56	5:47
Sept. 29	5:57	5:45
Sept. 30	5:58	5:44
Oct. 1	5:59	5:42

TAX MEASURE IN SENATE; REVISED TO RAISE MORE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—The tax revision bill, reported by the senate finance committee today, will yield a total revenue of $3,324,000,000 this year, it is estimated, or $34,000,000 more than the measure passed by the house.

Next year the measure would yield a revenue of $2,735,700,000, and increase of $75,000,000 over the house total.

Harding Urges Treaties

In a letter to Senator Lodge, read in the senate at this morning's session when the consideration of the peace treaties with Germany, Austria and Hungary was begun, said that pacts would remove the last vestiges of war relationships and bring about the complete return of peace.

Writ of Review in Justice Court Case

A new petition and undertaking was filed in the circuit court yesterday in the case of Cleveland against Irwin, and Cleveland against the Business Service Bureau, in which the writ of review filed in the county court by Attorney William Marx was dismissed and notice of new filing directed to Justice Gahagen, where the case originated. Judge Kuykendall directed the clerk of the circuit court to issue a writ of review to Justice Gahagen. The case of Thomas E. Cleveland, sometimes known as "T. E. Cleveland," and doing business under the name of James Sumpter, has had a varied legal course, and has been a matter which has caused much comment among the legal fraternity of the city over the many technical dodges used by attorneys for the two parties to the suit.

Fined for Driving Fast Past School

Yesterday afternoon in police court, F. A. Fisher, of Portland pleaded guilty to speeding past the Central school located at Ninth and Main street and was fined $10 and costs. Fisher alleged that his rate was not excessive but the stop watch held on him by Traffic Officer McLaughlin showed that his speed was greater than 10 miles an hour.

This arrest was the first in the crusade which was ordered started this week by the police department; and arrests will be made until autoists pass school property at safe and sane speeds, whether children are present or not. Records have been taken of local autoists who have unconsciously exceeded the limit and they have been warned not to repeat.

Signs bearing the warning, "School—Go Slow" were attached today to the deadmen in the center of the streets on Main from Eighth to Tenth as a warning to automobilists not to drive fast in those blocks. Mayor Wiley authorized the police department to move the signs from telephone posts to the deadmen Tuesday to assist them in enforcing the drive slow orders near school property.

Klamath Co. Girl Shot By Jealous Suitor at Denver

DENVER, Colo., Sept. 24.—J. A. Reynolds, believed to be an oil operator from Dallas, or Fort Worth, Tex., shot and seriously wounded Mrs. Hazel Barnett, 30, a waitress, and then killed himself. The shooting took place in front of the Denver county courthouse while scores of pedestrians were passing. Reynolds was 55 years old. Mrs. Barnett told the police that Reynolds had been following her in an effort to force her to marry him.

Mrs. Barnett's parents were said to reside in Midland, Klamath county, Oregon.
